

Imran urged the public to protest

Imran Khan, the leader of PTI, Imran urged the public to protest. He said he was aware of the assassination attempt in his first speech since it occurred. “The specifics of the attack will be discussed later. The day before the attack, I learned that they had intended to have me killed, either at Wazirabad or Gujrat.”

People chose me because they were tired of the previous governments:

Imran Khan, the leader of the PTI, attacked the PML-N and the PPP throughout his speech. He claimed that the country’s loans increased as a result of the two parties’ extensive corruption. He mentioned how the NRO provided relief to the two parties’ leaders. People chose me because they were sick of them, but now that the moment has come for a change, the establishment decides to bring them back.

He claimed that the ruling class was accustomed to forcing its decisions on the populace. This time, they were astounded by the public’s refusal to support the thieves who had been stealing for the previous 40 years.

Imran recalls incidents over the previous six months:

Recalling the political developments in the nation over the previous six months, PTI Chairman Imran Khan claimed that the government never loses a vote of confidence due to its resources. “The cypher came Donald Lu, warning the ambassador that the country would suffer problems if Imran Khan was not removed. Then, our lawmakers’ allegiances were bought with money.

Because using government funds would amount to theft from the country and the people, he stated, “The PTI took a moral decision to not take part in this auction.”

“After this, the PTI government was overthrown. People believed that Imran had been laid to rest and the PTI had dug its grave, but the Pakistani population achieved something it had never done before in the history of Pakistan”

Iman asserts that the system did not create her party:

Imran Khan asserted that, in contrast to the PPP and the PML-N, his party was not “formed by the establishment” and that public support was crucial to his victory.

We assumed the law and the Constitution allowed us to mount a protest, so we prepared a lengthy march for May 25. “I was taken away by the level of public support I received when we scheduled a lengthy march for May 25.

We had believed that they would give it to us because we had already given them consent, he said. Instead, they mistreated our staff and leaders harshly.

“They shelled families in Islamabad they believed the party would stop, but they didn’t grasp the sentiments of the nation because you can’t know what’s going on when choices are made in closed rooms.”

Agencies allegedly preventing the democratic process from progressing Imran Khan: The leader of the PTI claimed that Pakistan’s own agencies were preventing the continuation of democratic procedures. “All of the state apparatus was utilized to rig the by-elections in July, but PTI won handily.

“What follows is the application of additional pressure and threats. Major General Faisal, a handler who arrived in Islamabad, allegedly promised to demonstrate how to correct the PTI, according to Imran.

“More punishment was meted out to journalists and the media who supported PTI. Our MPAs have been approached, intimidated, and threatened with extortion to leave me if I didn’t share inappropriate films.

“More punishment was meted out to journalists and the media who supported PTI. Our MPAs have been approached, intimidated, and threatened to desert us; they have also been threatened with the publishing of offensive tapes and have been blackmailed.

“ECP was utilized to exclude me” Imran Khan, the leader of the PTI, claims that the Election Commission of Pakistan (ECP) was “used” to remove him from consideration in the Toshakhana reference.

There is no room for stealing, thus they disqualified me in that, he said, adding that it was done on “Nawaz’s orders” to level the playing field. “The whole record of the Toshakhana is with the Toshakhana,” he added.

“They’re comparing me to someone who owns billions of dollars worth of foreign property.” Using the justification that Chief Election Commissioner Sikander Sultan Raja was a “servant of the Sharif family,” he declared that the party would file a lawsuit in court to challenge the ECP’s decision to disqualify him.

People won't overlook Arshad Sharif's murder:

The nation would never forget the murder of journalist Arshad Sharif, according to Imran Khan, chairman of the PTI. "This nation will never forget what was done to Arshad Sharif; everyone knew he couldn't be bought or terrified; he went away and I know who was after him. The PTI head stated that "journalists and his family know why he had to leave and travel outside Dubai everyone understands his martyrdom is the most depressing turn in this country."

Imran claimed that 4 people planned to kill him:

Imran Khan, the chairman of the PTI, has alleged that four persons planned to murder him. He claimed that although the "handlers" were making the choices in the rear, a record number of people were attending his rallies. He claimed that "four people plotted to kill me. I prepared a film and named those people and stored it abroad. In case something happens, I will reveal it." He said that the connections he made while in the position of authority allowed him to learn about this operation.

"The country can't be deceived" Imran Khan, the leader of PTI, has claimed that the country cannot be duped, and the most recent by-elections have demonstrated this. "Who are today's favorites? All credibility has been destroyed by the lifeway. Just take a look at who has the most viewers right now. The country is repeatedly sending a message. "A society cannot continually be duped. The country is aware, and the elections reflect this. To make a statement, I ran for nine seats, and I took eight of them, Imran added. But, he said, they still are unaware of this. "They simply want to discredit me, degrade me, and show that I am much like the others. They seek to establish the similarity between all politicians.

They intended to kill me, much like Salman Taseer, says Imran:

Imran Khan, a former prime minister, said that the "government and its agents" had plotted to have him killed in a manner similar to that of Salman Taseer, a former governor of Punjab. "First of all, they accused me of blasphemy they produced cassettes and displayed it, and I knew who was behind it. "Because we live in a digital age, finding out is quite simple. Therefore, it was implied that I disregarded religion initially, and their intention was to murder Imran Khan in Wazirabad, according to the PTI leader.

Imran said that he had already explained this strategy to the public during a Jalsa on September 24. "This attempted assassination played out just as planned."

Imran gives the Names of the people who Planned to Kill Him:

The former prime minister claimed that three other people unrelated to the assassins he had identified on a video hidden abroad had planned to assassinate him. "How did I learn? Informants told me. They planned to assassinate me the day before Wazirabad because they could see an increase in the number of people following the script of religious fanaticism. He asserted that Major General Faisal, Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif, and Interior Minister Rana Sanaullah conspired to have him killed.

Imran discusses the Wazirabad incident and claims there were two shooters:

Imran Khan, the leader of PTI, spoke about the attempt on his life in Wazirabad. He claimed he was standing on the container when a “burst of gunshots” was fired at him, striking him in the thigh and forcing him to fall. Then there were two persons when there was a second blast. He claimed that he would not have survived if the two gunshot sprays had been timed. “I believe he the shooter assumed I had died and ran since I went down,” the victim said. He mentioned the arrest of a guy who claimed to be an extremist. “He is not a radical. We will find out what the attempt’s hidden purpose was.”

“Tried to file an FIR, but everyone is scared,”

Imran Khan, the head of the PTI, claimed that the party attempted to file a first information report (FIR) on the attempt on his life but that no one did so because they were “afraid since many institutions are above the law.”

Imran described the attack on him and claimed that if “two heroes” had not been present during the long march, he would have sustained fatal injuries. He remarked, “I salute martyr Muazzam and Ibtisam; without his bravery, the attacker would have fired more shots.”

Imran demands that COAS hold the “black sheep” responsible:

PTI Chairman Imran Khan urged General Qamar Javed Bajwa, Chief of Army Staff (COAS), to hold the “black sheep” in his organization accountable. If you act against them, he continued, the army’s stature won’t be damaged. He continued by saying that these “black sheep” were damaging the institution’s credibility.

One does not treat us like animals; we are people:

Imran Khan, the leader of the PTI, claimed that the country has finally taken notice and now faces a choice between a peaceful and a brutal revolution.

“There is no middle ground. I have seen this country awaken, and the awareness of the public will not be contained. The former premier urged people to “decide whether we can deliver change in a peaceful way through the ballot box and fair and free election or through anarchy.”

Imran Address CJP and demand:

Imran Khan, the leader of Pakistan’s largest party, called Chief Justice of Pakistan Umar Ata Bandial during a speech to the nation today, complaining that the party’s leader “was not getting justice.” “CJP, I can guarantee you that everything that has been done to me over the past six months has never been done by the country, not even with an enemy. “I received the greatest civil honors I improved Pakistan’s reputation in cricket, and the Shaukat Khanum hospital enjoys widespread acclaim. I got into two universities. I then founded the largest party in the nation,” he continued.

Imran Khan criticizes the treatment given to him and claims that his servants were paid to spy. Imran Khan, a former premier, has criticized the treatment given to him because he is the head of the “largest” political party.

In addition to saying that his phone calls were intercepted and released in violation of the Official Secrets Act, he claimed that his servants were being paid to spy on him. “Every strategy employed against the adversary was employed against me.” He continued by claiming that organizations such as the Federal

Investigation Agency claimed to have received “orders from above.”
“The country is destroying itself in this way.”

When I’m better, I’ll return to the streets:

Imran Khan, the leader of the PTI, has vowed to return to the streets after he has recovered from the attempt on his life. He claimed that he didn’t give a damn about his life and that he wouldn’t put up with the “slavery of these thieves.” He added that Pakistan “wasn’t created for slavery” and that as soon as he felt better, he would ask for help and enter the streets of Islamabad.

“Only political parties can unite nations; the military only assists”

Imran Khan urged the public to protest. He has asserted that PTI is the only party in Pakistan capable of bringing the nation together. “East Pakistan would not have split off if the military had been able to reunite the nation. Countries are only united by political parties; the military aids in this. He claimed that “we didn’t learn from history” in a speech to the country delivered from Shaukat Khanum Hospital. “I was warned they would kill me when I first started the march. I initially questioned whether they would actually harm the country for their narrow interests.
